Impact of Covid-19

Remote learning has proven difficult for all students, but particularly so for our students with Special Educational Needs. Our Remote Learning Strategy has taken into account the barriers to learning that these students may experience and additional support has been offered at all levels. All students with an EHCP were offered a place in school and encouraged to attend, with more than half accepting their place. Other students with SEN received additional support from their teachers, the SENCO and our HLT/TA team. Where a barrier to learning could not be overcome a place in school was offered.

Evaluation of Impact

The impact of the provision provided has been to improve the access to the curriculum all of students who have SEN. Carefully planned provision, including short term interventions implemented by school staff, together with expertise secured by school has ensured that all children with Special Educational Needs have been able to access areas of the curriculum that would not have otherwise been accessible for them.

Although 2019/2020 was a very different year in terms of outcomes for our students, our internal analysis suggests that our Year 11 cohort with Special Educational Needs performed slightly higher than the national average. Accelerating achievement across the curriculum for SEN students remains a Key Improvement Priority for 2021/2022.
